

Dimitris Kaltsonis is a Professor of State Theory and Law at Panteion University. He teaches at the Department of Social Policy, the Department of Political Science and History, and in the Master's course of the Department of Public Administration of Panteion University. He runs the seminar "State and law in the 21st century" (www.kratoskaidikaio.blogspot.com). He has published the following monographs:

- 1.State power in China, 1949-2019, Topos, 2019 (in Greek)
- 2.Estado y democracia en el siglo XXI, Munoz Moya Editores, 2018 (in Spanish)
- 3.Fidel Castro for Allende, Topos, 2017 (in Greek)
4. Greek Constitutional History, 1821-2001, KPSM, 2017 (in Greek)
- 5.What is the State? Topos, 2016 (in Greek)
- 6.Law, democracy and economic crisis, Topos, 2014 (in Greek)
7. Che for state and revolution, Topos, 2012 (in Greek)
8. The dilemma of the Bolivarian Republic - State and law in Hugo Chávez's Venezouela, Xifaras, 2010 (in Greek)
9. Law – society - classes, Modern Era, 2005 (in Greek)
10. The Court from the primitive to the classless society, Modern Era, 2002 (in Greek)
11. State and abeyance of law, A. Sakkoulas, 1998 (in Greek)
12. The Constitution in Leninist thought, Modern Era, 1997 (in Greek)